Emmalina was artistic and liked to color. She was a firm believer in God, having been saved and baptized several years ago at Cornerstone Baptist Church in Richland, Missouri.

“ The friendship that I've had with you the last 22 years can never be replaced. You were and always will be my best friend. I'll never forget the day I met you, I was pregnant with my first daughter and it was freezing cold outside. Our husbands were best friends in high school and Chris had called Richard and said you all were living in VA right up the road from us. We stopped by without calling and you made us wait outside until you cleaned your house. After that night we were inseparable, you were my stay at home mom friend that I could spend all day with. We spent so many summers together and you helped raise my girls. I will miss you always and I'll love you forever ❤️

“ Emmalina was definetly a special person in her own right, who could be just a little mischievous when the mood struck her. One day at her Dads home she started telling me stories of things she had done...by the time she finished a couple of her stories I was in tears from laughing so hard! She will be so missed by her family she left behind...RIP and fly high Emmalina...
