“ We spent 16 hours taking everything out of the old house and trucking it to Salem. Then driving all the way back to St Charles. I thought he wanted to go through the old house and make sure nothing was missed. Nope. We went room by room with Freddy pointing out every hole, Each drawing etc... and then explaining how it got there and why or who all was over when it happened. In the 17 years we were friends that was the only time I would have guessed at how sentimental he actually was.

I first met Freddy the week he turned 18. He needed a ride home from a HOUSE! Problem was, he didn't know where the house was, just the name of the subdivision it was in. Took almost half an hour of driving around looking before we found each other.

After that he frequently needed me to give him rides or bring things over. But he was the first to offer help anytime I needed more hands to get something done. Or to listen on the phone when I had something new and crazy happen that I wanted to share with someone.

Your already missed. Bye Freddy. Dale
