“ Christmas of 2010 (I think) Kayla rented a house with me and a couple other people including my kids. I bought my son a video game system and when I came home with it, Kayla and I sat hip to hip in my cuddler recliner and opened his new game so we could test it out before we wrapped it. We laughed and acted like kids getting away with something behind their parents backs.

I have far too many good memories to type. Kayla was a beautiful person with an even more beautiful soul. I love her then, now and forever and will miss her for the rest of my days.

Goodbye Boo. Love, Brielle

“ I still remember Kayla when she was about 5 years old in a beautiful little flouncy dress. She was beautiful and totally knew it, Miss Personality. She lit up the room and had so much energy packed into one little compact body. I loved the way she followed her daddy around, always wanting to do whatever he was doing. She was a bright star that dimmed too soon. My heart goes out to you, Tracie and Kendall, and all the rest of her close family. -----Great Aunt Eva Lee
