When he wasn't working or fighting fires, Mark enjoyed spending time outdoors, hunting, and fishing. He was a lifelong Kansas City Chiefs Fan, faithfully watching every game and cheering them on. Some of his favorite memories were made with his family and one of his proudest moments was being promoted to "PawPaw".

“ Maggie~

My condolences to you and your family. His passing is a loss to the community reading about his life looks like he served the community most of his life, he had to have been a very courageous, strong, and brave man to do the things firefighters do to serve people in need that are in dangerous situations putting himself in harms way. Giving selfless service thats what he did. You should be very proud of him. I am certain he will continue to watch over you. I am glad I was able to tell your Dad what an amazing beautician you are. Remember all the life lessons he taught you.

“ I have known Mark my entire life. There isn't a memory growing up without him in it. The world seems a little less brighter knowing he isn't here. He always had a great sense of humor and was the best friend a girl could hope for growing up. My prayers are with his family now. Even though it's been many years since I have seen him, I know he was always the same sweet Marky Fancher I knew growing up. He will be missed. Heaven gained a wonderful Angel in Mark. Rest easy now my friend 💕💕
